HERITAGE SIGNIFICANCE

The Shannon brothers owned large areas of land in the northern Barossa Valley and along the River Light. "Yatara" was one of a number of imposing houses built by Shannons (see also Moculta House, D.C. Angaston), having commenced c.1846 by David Shannon. The present house comprises a one-storeyed section (1863) and a two storeyed section (1888), having been enlarged considerably since it was first built, although it was a substantial building even in the beginning.

Also of interest is the stone woolshed, which appears to date from the earlier period.
