1991

142 Wheatsheaf Road
MORPHETT VALE SA 5162

Item No.: MV27

Statement of Cultural Significance

Originally, this homestead was an integral part of a thriving farm, held by the same family, the Taylors, for over 100 years. Now partially surrounded by housing it still remains an important link with the past.

Relevant Criteria

A building important to the understanding of early nineteenth century rural settlement.

Significant Interest

Possibly one of the oldest buildings in the district.

Recommendation

It is recommended that this item be included on the Register of State Heritage Items.

Analysis of Significant Interest

Architectural

Originally a house of 5 rooms built in 1838. Its walls are 2 feet thick and built of stone quarried in the nearby hills.

Historical

Extract from: "Notes on Thrushgrove and the Taylor Family", by Kim Lovatt, 1988

"The Thrushgrove property was purchased by Thomas Taylor in 1840. Thomas had travelled to Australia in 1838 aboard the ship "Pestonjee Bomanjee" along with his wife and family. Upon arriving in Adelaide, the Taylor's had lived at "The Reedbeds" for two years prior to moving to Morphett Vale.

Thrushgrove homestead was actually built in 1838 by the Turner family who commenced farming the land prior to Thomas Taylor purchasing the property.

The Thrushgrove property passed from Thomas to his son Richard then onto Wilfred who eventually sold the property for subdivision in 1961.

However, the property continued to operate as a farm up until 1963 with Wilfred's son Peter assisting in the running of the property whilst also running his own property at Normanville.

The property operated as a mixed farm, with grain farming, grazing (sheep), dairying and vineyards.

The vineyard comprised 70 acres with the grape varieties: Grenache (red), Pedro (white) and Doradillo (white) being grown. The grapes were picked by casual labour, with the pickers being paid by the bucket. The grapes were sold to Emu Winery, Reynella Winery and Glenloth Winery."
